

Glass Restoration - Markets

MARKETS INCLUDE:

New Construction

Commercial and residential glass becomes damaged during delivery, installation, etc. or during the building construction process. The Novus Glass Restoration System eliminates the downtime, hassle and expense of reordering replacement glass and reinstallation.

Commercial Glass

Glass graffiti negatively impacts business, offends customers and creates an unsafe environment. Restoring rather than replacing vandalized glass offers huge savings for customers. The Novus Glass Restoration System also easily removes unsightly hard water and mineral deposits without the use of harsh chemicals.

Marine Industry

Our system easily removes saltwater stains, saving the cost of replacement glass. Generally, the glass found in yachts is extremely expensive.

Manufacturers

Glass often becomes damaged during the production or post-production process. Instead of throwing the glass out, many manufacturers have realized substantial savings restoring their glass. Many manufacturers will subcontract work to companies who restore glass.

Distributors

Glass of all kinds can become damaged in post-production and is often over-looked before shipping, causing considerable inconvenience for customer and the distributor. Glass can also become damaged during the delivery process during handling or while being stored in the warehouse. The Novus Glass Restoration System can save considerable time and money in delivery costs and rework.